

PROVIDING SHARED RESOURCES

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Providing shared resources includes receiving modified data that is modified from a data field of a source version of a collection of data and other data of the source version of the collection of data, determining if the other data differs from current data included in a current version of a collection of data that corresponds to the other data, and if the other data does not differ, including the modified data in the current data.

20170056.doc